

Values List

Accountability

Accountable to a consciously chosen set of values

Achievement/success

Recognition from others for what you have done

Actualisation/wholeness

Realising one's full potential as an emotionally and physically integrated person

Administration/management

Exercising executive functions in an institution

Art/beauty

As enjoyed for its own sake

Autonomy

To be independent and personally in control of one's life

Belonging (Liked)

To be regarded with favour by a group of significant others

Care/nurture

To care and nurture others as they grow and to expect the same

Community/simplicity

Enriching and empowering relationships that exist within a group who are intensely committed to one another

Community/support

Seeking to have the whole greater than the sum of the parts

Contemplation

Meditative reflection that leads to intimacy and harmony

Control/duty

Exercise of strong moral restraint to fulfil obligations

Convivial technology

Technology that improves society and that is ecologically sound

Corporate mission

Designing of organisations that enrich persons within them and that are beneficial to society

Detachment

Detachment from worldly issues to enrich the quality of one's life

Dignity/justice

Commitment to providing every person with honour, respect and worth

Education

Formal study/training to gain a recognised qualification

Empathy/generosity

Reflecting on another's feelings, thoughts and attitudes with positive regard and acceptance

Equality

Liberated for action through seeing oneself as having the same worth as others

Expressiveness/freedom

Able to express oneself fully and freely

Family/belonging

Physical and emotional connectedness with parents and children or their substitutes

Health/wellbeing

Health of mind and body that flows from meeting one's physical and emotional needs

Insight

Intuitive understanding of an underlying truth about the nature of one's internal and external realities

Institution

Concern for and devotion to a particular institution that is committed to the provision of a particular product or service

Intimacy

Deep mutual sharing with another on a regular basis

Law/duty

Legal and moral obligation to follow the rules of an institution

Law/guide

Law not as absolute rule, but as a basis for rational decision making

New order

The goal of creating new organisational forms that develop and dignify people

Patriotism/loyalty

Faithful loyalty to an institution

Personal authority

Confidence in the right to have one's thoughts, feelings, words and actions respected

Play

Non-dutiful, un-directed engagement in fantasy, pleasure and amusement

Property/economics

Accumulation of material goods for security or power

Research/knowledge

Gaining of knowledge for its own sake

Rights/world order

Commitment to improving the lot of people throughout the globe

Safety/survival

Avoiding the risk of personal injury or loss in order to survive

Search

Personal search to find one's place in the scheme of things

Security

Interest in one's physical comfort and protection

Self preservation

Protecting oneself from physical harm

Self worth

Knowing that when other people know me they'll think well of me

Sensory pleasure

Experiencing physical pleasure through the senses

Service

Motivation to make a contribution to others through one's unique skills and abilities

Social prestige

Display of hallmarks of reputation, influence, achievement, rank or success

Tradition

Ritualisation of beliefs, legends and customs so as to preserve their meaning

Transcendence/ecority

Motivation, stemming from an ecological awareness, to maintain beauty and harmony in the natural order through convivial technology

Wisdom

Knowledge of what is true and right combined with just judgment as to appropriate action

Wonder/awe

Overwhelming feelings of reverence, admiration and fear about the natural order

Word/prophet

Writing or lecturing to raise the consciousness of people to the human condition

Work/confidence

Self-assurance about one's skills and abilities to perform one's work productively

Workmanship/technology

The art or skill of producing quality work through the use of tools

Worship

Reverence for and belief in God that is expressed through a commitment to the doctrines and teachings of the religious belief